Annualised volatility: a measure of how variable returns for a fund or comparative market index have been around their historical average (also known as "standard deviation"). Two funds may produce the same return over a period. The fund whose monthly returns have varied less have a lower annualised volatility and may be considered to have achieved its returns with less risk. The calculation is the standard deviation of monthly returns presented as an annualised number. Volatility for funds and indices are calculated independently of each other.

Fund objective

The fund aims to provide long-term capital growth by investing mainly in equities and private markets and is expected to have higher risk-adjusted long-term returns than a solely equities-based fund.

Fund description

The Fund invests in two underlying funds, one that invests in listed global equities and one that invests in a diversified mix of private market assets. The percentage invested in private markets is planned to gradually build up over 2024 and reach its target allocation in 2025. Over this period a small percentage of the Fund may also be invested in a cash fund which invests in bank deposits and other short-dated bonds which are close to maturity.

- The listed global equities allocation currently invests in a large number of company shares from across the world; designed to favour investment in companies which exhibit characteristics that have historically led to higher returns or lower risk than the market as a whole, and companies which are less carbon-intensive in their operations or earn green revenues (ie from industries providing climate change solutions).
- The diversified mix of private market assets includes investments in asset classes such as real estate, infrastructure, natural resources, alternative credit and private equity. This allocation invests mainly in long-term illiquid assets, through investments in third-party funds. In selecting investments, the investment manager applies a number of exclusion screens and evaluates ESG considerations during the due diligence process.

IMPORTANT: As this is a new fund, the performance figures, fund holdings and fund breakdown data will be available once the fund has been running for a full calendar quarter.

Risk rating

 Very low  Low  Low/medium  Medium  Medium/high  High  Very high

All investments carry a level of risk. You need to decide how much of each type of risk you're prepared to take. The table below gives an overview of some of the risks associated with this fund

Risk type	Description of risk	Level of risk for this fund
Capital Risk	This is the risk that the value of your investments will fall. Investors in higher capital risk funds should expect to see above average growth over the long term, but might see big falls in value in the short term. The younger you are, the less worried you might be about capital risk, because your investments have time to recover their value before you retire. Higher capital risk funds may be less suitable if you are close to retirement and want more certainty.
Inflation Risk	This is the risk that the value of your investments will grow more slowly than prices rise. Inflation can be a problem for pension savings invested in cash or bond funds particularly if the interest you're earning is less than the rate of inflation and you are some way from retirement.
Pension Conversion Risk	The price of an annuity changes on a regular basis. This means that the amount of income you can secure with the same amount of money will change. Pension conversion risk is the risk that the amount of income you can buy drops before you retire, because your money is invested differently to annuity funds. That's why, if you wish to buy an annuity to provide a regular income through retirement, putting more of your DC pension pot into bonds to try to match annuity prices as you get closer to retirement age can help protect against this risk. If you wish to continue investing your pension savings during retirement and access drawdown then this is less of a concern.

About the factsheet

It is important to remember that the price of units can go down as well as up. There's no guarantee that you'll get back the amount that goes into your DC pension pot. Changes in rates of currency exchange, particularly where overseas securities are held, could also affect the value of your investment. Although the funds can typically be bought and sold on a daily basis, fund managers may need to delay when you can access your holdings in a fund(s) due to exceptional market circumstances. All funds are provided through FIL Life Insurance Ltd and may invest in securities issued by or hold deposits with HSBC Holdings plc and associated companies. The Trustee can change the underlying managers or funds within this fund, or decide to withdraw or replace the fund at any time, without member consent or prior notification. This factsheet should be read alongside the investment guide.

Making fund choices is an important decision that could have a significant effect on your benefits. This factsheet has been produced to provide you with fund information and is not designed to provide advice or a recommendation on the suitability of an investment for your personal financial circumstances. The Trustee cannot give you financial advice about your fund choices. Consider taking independent financial advice before making any investment decisions.
